DR. JULIE PARTRIDGE, SOUTHERN ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY
Social Influence and the Physical Domain: Current Knowledge and Future Directions

Julie Partridge, Ph.D., is an associate professor of sport & exercise psychology at Southern Illinois University Carbondale. She has a B.S. in Psychology from Kansas State University, an M.A. in Sport Psychology from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and a Ph.D. in Social Psychological Kinesiology with a doctoral minor in Educational Psychology from the University of Northern Colorado. Prior to her appointment at SIU, she was a full-time faculty member in the Department of Integrative Physiology at the University of Colorado at Boulder.

Dr. Partridge's research examines shame coping as an emotional response in sport & exercise, and social influence in youth sport (parents, peers, siblings, and coaches). She also works as a sport psychology/performance enhancement consultant with athletes from a variety of sports/competitive levels. She is a member of the Board of Directors for the National Alliance for Youth Sports (NAYS), a leading non-profit advocate in the United States for positive/safe sports and activities for children. She is also a faculty member of the Academy for Youth Sports Administrators.
