Suggested Texts:
These are only suggested, but may be quite helpful to you.

Online Resources: http://www.wadsworth.com is the Web site for the text book. The student resources section has practice tests with immediate scoring and feedback; links to related web sites; and research updates to keep up with recent developments in the field. Other web sites will be provided during the course.

Power Points Handouts: I will be using Power Points for my lectures. They will be posted on my web site one day before each new chapter. They will be in PDF format, so you will need to download a free copy of Adobe Acrobat Reader. http://www.adobe.com Please print them and bring them to class. You can printout them in any computer lab on campus.

Class Format: We will cover one chapter from the text a week. Because of the volume of information, lectures during the week will be selective; I will not be able to lecture on everything in the text. However, students will be expected to read the text and will be responsible for all material; I reserve the right to ask questions over material from the text about which I do not lecture. Despite the traditional lecture format, I have found that class is much more interesting, and students retain more, if questions are asked. So, please, ask me questions.

Course Requirements:
• Exams: There will be 4 in-class exams, plus a comprehensive final, each worth 100 points. Exams will be comprised of multiple choice and short answer essay questions. Exams are to be taken at scheduled class meeting times. You will be allowed to drop one test grade from the 5 tests (typically your lowest). You must have four exams at the end of the semester.!!! Any student who misses an exam for a documented excusable reason will be allowed to take a makeup exam on the makeup exam date: December 15, 2004 at 8:00 am. Or you can drop the missed test as an option.
- Quizzes: A quiz for 10 points will be given at the start of each new chapter (possible 140 points; lowest four will be dropped [no make-ups]) – total = 100 points.

- Paper: Each student will complete an individual paper consisting of locating, reading and reviewing an autobiographical book that contains a personal account of coping/thriving with a psychological disorder. A guide sheet for this written review will be distributed in class. The written review is worth 100 points. This paper is at least 5 pages and no longer than 8 pages in length for undergraduates. The topic of the paper will be discussed further. The paper will be written in APA 6th edition style (including references). A list of eligible books will be handed out in class. Late papers will be penalized by deducting 15 points off per class day late.

- Graduate Student Paper: Graduate students will need to write a research based paper on a controversial issue in abnormal psychology. This requires the student to provide an opinion, based on existing literature and research. A guide sheet will be provided for the specifics of this assignment. This written project for graduate students will be worth 100 points.

- Activity Points – Students can gain up to 25 activity points from class activities such as group activities and other in-class activities. Students must be present to obtain the activity points and these are voluntary. Projects may include a movie or university lecture or appropriate activity on a topic important to the course.

- Attendance & Participation: Regular and consistent attendance is necessary to do well in this class and I have a strict policy for attendance. According to university policy, “registration in a course obligates the student to be regular and punctual in class attendance.” Students are expected to attend all classes. Class attendance sheets will be passed out at each class and it is the student’s responsibility to sign the attendance sheets. There are no make-ups for in-class activities or quizzes. You must be present to earn the activity/quiz points. If for some reason you must miss class, it is your responsibility to contact the instructor for missed handouts and assignments. If you quit attending the course it is your responsibility to withdraw from the course. The following procedures apply:
  - Students who miss three class meetings are to meet with me to discuss your absences. More than three absences may result in your being asked to drop the class.
  - Every student is allowed 3 absences for the semester, however more than 3 absences is considered excessive. The instructor reserves the right to drop a student one letter grade or fail a student for excessive absences.

- Grades: Grades will be based on the points earned out of the total possible:
  - Undergraduate Students
    - 4 exams 400 points
    - Quiz Points 100 points
    - Paper 100 points
    - Activity points 25 points
  - Graduate Students
    - 4 exams 400 points
    - Activity Points 50 points
    - Project 100 points
    - Quiz Points 100 points
    - Paper 100 points
  - Total Possible 625 points 750 points

Final Grades (Undergraduate): A= 562-625; B=500-561; C=437- 499; D= 375-436; Below 435 = F
Graduate level grades separately computed.
NOTE: This is not an “averaged” grade. It is the total points accumulated during the Semester.

Other:
- Academic Honesty: Students are expected to submit original work. Where resources and sources of information are used, credit must be given to the original source. Assignments should reflect the work of the individual student. According to the WKU 2001-2003 Undergraduate Catalog, “Students who commit any act of academic dishonesty may receive from the instructor a failing grade in that portion of the coursework in which the act is detected or a failing grade in the course without possibility of withdrawal” (p. 27).

- Office Visits: Please feel free to come to talk with me during office hours or by appointment anytime during the semester concerning your progress in class. I welcome the opportunity to assist you in your academic endeavors. I would very much like to know each of you, and your taking some time to visit me during my office hours or by appointment will greatly increase the likelihood of that happening! However, just like you, I have my “busy days” and I may suggest we make an appointment if you come at a busy time. Another way to communicate with me is through E-mail that I read daily. Please place (Psych 440) in the Subject line to help me.
• Intellectual curiosity and a sense of humor are also greatly appreciated in students! In that this is a class where students frequently provide personal examples/accounts I do expect all students to be respectful of these contributions.

• Please be careful on sharing what may be personal information. I do not want to embarrass anyone or have you placed in a difficult spot. The topics discussed can be quite personal, so appreciating others' viewpoints and situations is essential. Please do not share your personal history in class. It can lead to very difficult situations for all of us to deal with. I do try to answer all questions if they are made to be more "impersonal".

• I ask that all CELL PHONES and BEEPERS be turned off or place in silent mode during classes. If there is a pending emergency, please see me before class.

Students with disabilities who require accommodations (academic adjustments and/or auxiliary aids or services) for this course must contact the Office for Student Disability Services, Garrett Conference Center, Room 101. The OFSDS telephone number is (270) 745-5004 V/TDD.”

“Per university policy, please DO NOT request accommodations directly from the professor or instructor without a letter of accommodation from the Office for Student Disability Services.”
